FIREWIRE DOMINATOR II MANNKINE SURFBOARDS FUTURES FINS

The Dominator II is a revisited version I'm super excited about. The Dominator has been a staple in my quiver and the Firewire line since its inception in 2008 and the DM II is meant to be a clean update of the original with design features that should lead to even more range of surf that it works well in as well as even more performance.

The obvious outline change is to the tail going to a squash from the round tail. The rails are slightly more refined and performance oriented. The concave is the same under the front foot but splits into a subtle double barrel and V out the tail the last 5". The reason I am inclined to ride a round tail compared to the squash is the smoothness in transition from rail to rail and during turns but the squash tail is proving to have that as well as a bit more release in the turns.
